

SAUNTERINGS

Mr. and Mrs. George Louis Savage announce the engagement of their daughter, Geneva, to David Keith, Jr. The wedding will take place on Saturday next at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Savage. It will be a quiet home affair with only the relatives present, and following the ceremony the young people will leave for San Francisco and sail from there to Honolulu where they will spend the greater part of the winter.

The midwinter fair of the Non-Sectarian Charity League started last night, and if the finish is anything like the start it will be one of the greatest social and financial successes that has ever taken place in social circles. Those who have been most actively engaged in making a success of the affair consisting of the leading matrons and maids in society, were in charge of the various booths and their fantastic costumes and the scenic effects and novelties introduced made the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Utah a scene of carnival gaiety unprecedented locally. Nearly everybody in town who happens to be anybody and lots of country cousins from the smart sets of every town from Richmond to Salina, were present enjoying the festivities, "Walking The Dog" and contributing liberally to the cause.

One of the most attractive features was "The Red Onion," a mining camp dance hall with opportunity to risk a bet here or there. It was in charge of Mrs. Jack Rooklidge. There were living pictures in the ballroom, a clever cabaret show and the various booths representing different countries were also most attractive. It is some show and if you weren't there last night there will be other opportunities to visit it today and this evening.

The escapade of S. Sortez, a Mexican, early in the week was reminiscent of something that happened in higher society circles only a week or two ago. Sortez was angry because he wasn't invited to a party because he was "broke," so spent the evening throwing stones through the windows of a rooming house where the affair was being held. When arrested his pockets were full of rocks and he expressed regret that he was not allowed to complete his plan of attack. Down deep there is very little difference in society high or low, but the gentleman who set the example for Sortez resorted to a different method of attack.

A great surprise was planned for a popular pair who were about to celebrate their wedding anniversary, and when the arrangements were being made one of their most intimate friends was purposely snubbed. The plans were perfected on an elaborate scale, but on the afternoon preceding the evening when the two were to be complimented the gentlemen asked them to an elaborate dinner to which a dozen other guests had been invited, called for them in his machine and when the surprise party arrived there was nobody home. Poor Sortez, poor Brummel. "The Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady are sisters under their skins."

Ah! he kissed her, no, he missed her,
But along came little sister
With a line of testimony that would seem to indicate

She was hinting, she was squinting
At the man and Mrs. Quinting,
Whose osculatory mix-up she endeavored to relate.

But his drury when the jury
Talked it over in a fury,
Did not seemingly impress them so a verdict they could reach,

Ah! caressing is distressing
And it seems to keep one guessing

How to do it with impunity when taking home a peach.

Society has been pretty busy preparing for the affair now going on at the Hotel Utah, and in consequence there is not a great deal to chronicle. There seldom is just preceding the holidays, but when they arrive every day and night stages enough fancy frolics to fairly exhaust the smart ones by the time another year has arrived.

The annual dinner dance to be given by the Pan-Hellenic Society of Utah will take place at the Hotel Utah on December 29th, and the promise is that this year it will be the most brilliant event ever arranged by the society.

Mrs. J. H. Waters and Mrs. W. E. Sutton entertained at a bridge party and tea at the Newhouse Hotel on Monday. There were forty tables of bridge, and later as many more additional guests arrived for the tea.

Mrs. Paul Jones entertained informally on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Lisle Van Kirk of New York, who is a guest at her home.

Miss Marian Luhn, who has been visiting here for a fortnight, has returned to Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale L. Smith are now at home at the Hillcrest Apartments.

Mrs. W. L. McLeod and Mr. McLeod's parents, who have been visiting here, have gone to Los Angeles.

Mrs. W. I. Snyder entertained the members of the Chrystal Bridge club at a luncheon on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harold R. Smoot and Mrs. Joseph F. Nibley will be the hostesses at a large afternoon tea to be given on Tuesday, December 19th, in the garden of the Utah.

Mrs. George P. Holman entertained a score of friends on Tuesday in honor of Mrs. Alice Calhou of Bridgeport, Conn., who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. B. Harkness.

An interesting meeting was held by the Catholic Woman's League at the Ladies' Literary club house on Tuesday, over two hundred guests were present.

Mrs. W. H. Dickson and her daughter, Mrs.

MISS GENEVA SAVAGE, WHOSE MARRIAGE TO DAVID KEITH, JR., WILL TAKE PLACE DECEMBER 16TH.

The invited guest were the patronesses of the travel recitals to be given by Miss van Kirk next week.

Mrs. J. H. Manderfield was the hostess at a delightful card party given at her home on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard W. Reed are now at home at the Hotel Utah, where they will be until they go to California to spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. William Blythe and Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, who spent Thanksgiving with Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Keith, have returned to their homes in Evanston.

Irene D. Schulder and son, Dickson, have gone to Los Angeles, where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lambourne have returned from San Francisco.

Ms. Fred A. Earls entertained informally at her home on Wednesday in honor of Mrs. George Prentiss, who has recently returned from abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ross Brown have returned from their wedding trip and will shortly be at home at the Arlington apartments. They are at present visiting Mrs. Brown's parents, M. and Mrs. Ezra Thompson.

Mrs. George N. Lawrence entertained at a tea